"Bob has a unique ability to grasp and sustain the attention of a large audience without the use of grand theatrics or over-the-top showmanship. He uses a delicate personal approach that is very direct as if he is speaking only to you, despite being in a room filled with people. He is capable of inspiring passion and commitment through sincerity that is not arrogant or over-confident. It is a straight-forward honest approach that is very much refreshing.

I firmly recommend Bob for any potential speaking opportunities that might exist at your company, church or other organization."
